CRIPPLE CREEK.

Battle Likely Unless Treachery is Associated Press Leased-wire Service.

CRIPPLE CREEK (Colo.,) June 6.— There will be no battle between the fortifled union miners on army of deputy sheriffs who are now en-camped on Beaver Creek, less than five miles from Bull Hill, unless a treacherous move is made by one side or the other. The aspect of affairs was decidedly v like until 3 o'clock this afternoon. Al-though the deputies cut all the telegraph lines between this city and Midland, the miners were quickly informed by their scouts of the advance of the Sheriff's force, and prepared for battle. They were will-ing to surrender to the militia, but de-clared they would never submit to arrest until the troops arrived. Mayor Lindsay and President Parker of the First National Bank called up Sheriff Bowers by tele-phone, and begged him to stop the depu-ties until the troops could reach the camp. The Sheriff adhered to this, and there is overy reason to believe that there will be no further hostilities. Alexander McIntosh, representing the miners, announced that they would lay down their arms immediately on the arrival of the State troops. The deputies will follow the troops to the miners' camp and serve warrants, which they are said to hold for two hundred strikers. DEPUTIES LEAVE DIVIDE.

DEPUTIES LEAVE DIVIDE.

DIVIDE (Colo.) June 6.—Twelve hundred deputies left here at 2 o'clock for Cripple Creek under command of a young military man, whose name is not known. Nowspaper correspondents were locked up to prevent news from getting out. Gen. Charles Adams is in command of 200 cavalry men. It is the intention to camp at Beaver Park and send a committee in Bull Hill to demand the surrender of certain strikers. If the request is refused an attack will be made on the strikers stronghold.

It is expected that the strikers will capitulate or a battle be fought before the troops can reach Cripple Creek, owing to washouts on the railroads. Soon after the departure of deputies heavy firing washeard. It is supposed a fight took place with skirmishers.

CRIPPLE CREEK (Colo.,) June 6.—The strikers' pickets early today encountered 400 deputies near Gillette, five miles from Bull Hill. All miners' outposts are being drawn in and preparations made for battle at Bull Hill.

Deputies reached Beaver Park, five miles from Bull Hill. If they go on there will be a battle. The miners will resist say attempt to make arrests until the strike is fully settled and and the mines reopened. After that they say the Sheriff can have any miners he wants.

About 11 o'clock some one went among the strikers and announced that men were working at the slack piles across the river. A rush was made by one or two hundred men. The tipple of John Davitt came down before their onslaught, and from there the crowd made a break for the new tipple being erected by John Mointyre above, which met the same fatc. These slack piles have not been made use of for years, but scarcity of coal has made apparent their usefulness.

The city was half deserted this afternoon by the departure of 2000 strikers to Camden, three miles south, to destroy coal tipples, the object being to effist striking miners in their cause. Capt. McIntyre narrowly escaped lynching at the hands of a mob which destroyed the Port View tipples. General Manager Converse states that no deputy sheriffs have been asked for and no men will be imported to start the works.

When the mob reached Duquesne it had increased to 6009 strikers and sympathizers. With yells they attacked the Duquesne Tube Works, drove all the men out of the plant, drew the fires and ran the hot metal from the furnaces out on the floors. The reasons the strikers give for their action is that the works were using scab coal. As the strikers left one of the men threw a plank in front of the train, nearly derailing it. They left the mill on a run and started back over the hills, going to the pits in Mifflin township. At midnight the town is quiet and the hard-worked crowd is recruiting strength, probably for another raid tomorrow. miners are determined that no more coal shall pass, no matter what must be resorted to to prevent it. One coal train slipped through by running on a passenger train's schedule. When the passenger train followed, the miners flagged it. They were very angry over being fooled by the engineer of the coal train.

The passenger train got through, but it received a volley of stones, all the windows being broken. The passengers, however, had been warned and were not hurt. The most then became so desperate as to alarm the citizens, and Sheriff Mason has asked Gov. McKinley to send troops immediately.

PORTLAND (Or.,) June 6.—News has been received from the Upper Columbia region which indicates that the worst of the flood is over. Snake River is falling and the Columbia is stationary. In this city the water will probably reach the thirty-three-foot mark by noon. On Front street the water is deep enough for navigation of the largest-sized river craft. street it is seven and a half feet b. Many docks have disappeared and deep. are only kept from floating by heavy loads of machinery, etc., stored thereon.

On the East Side one can count a dozen buildings in the flooded district ready to go down. At The Dalles the river is 58.3 feet above low water. The only houses doing business are groceries and markets. The water is nearly three feed deep on the floor of the postoffice. A swift current is running through town, and feared that many buildings will be washed from their foundations. are in the water to the second Thirty blocks are under water, and a ris of a few more feet will inundate the en-tire portion of the town under the bluff. Memaloose Island, the burial-place o the Indians for many years, is almost en-tirely under water, and hundreds of skeletrey inder water, and adminded to sacretons are being washed away.

The latest reports from Cascade Locks ray the government works are still in sweat danger. The bukkhead which keeps the Columbia out of the upper end of the lock is almost submerged. Should it go out, all the rip-rap work; and possibly the entire works, will be destroyed, entailing a loss of over $1.000,000. The Weather Bureau predicts that the river in this city will reach its maximum height at midnight, and remain stationary till Thursday, with a tendency to fall. When it commences to fall the recession will be very slow, not over four inches a day for at least ten days. At Riparia the Snake River has fallen ten inches in the last twenty-four hours. The Columbia is also reported to be falling at the same rate at Umatilla.

reported to be falling at the same rate at Umatilla.

Later.—A telephone message received this afternoon from the locks says that the centractors have succeeded in strength-ening the builkhead so that it will not go out. They have had large gangs of mon working for six days and nights, and large quantities of gravel, brush and stone have been used. It is not believed that all danger is past.

News from down the Columbia River shows a most deplorable condition of affairs. Fishing has been suspended and the great stream has flooded the whole courtry on both sides. Houses have been carried away, farms inundated and crops destroyed. There has been great loss of stock. Anything approximating an estimate of the damage is utterly impossible. Sauvies Island is entirely submerged and crops destroyed. The loss is very heavy and will leave a great many in destitute circumstances. Suffering and want prevail among the families of many ranchers. Up the Columbia the floods have destroyed the prospects of this season's salmon fishing. All the fish-wheels have either been carried away or destroyed.

car lines, excepting the Second-street road, is growing to be a serious inconvenience to thousands of people, and particularly those living in the east-side suburbs. The companies will directly and indirectly suffer a loss of many thousands of dollars. Chief Engineer Buchtel this morning caused another engine to be placel on a barge. This makes three engines now so situated that they can reach nearly every part of the flooded district.

The Southern Pacific overland crought a heavy load of passengers and mail today.

The Southern Pacific overland brought a heavy load of passengtrs and mail today. The Union Pacific mail was sent in over the Southern's line, and there was fully ten tons of letters and papers from the East, which have been delayed several days. The condition of both the Madison and Morrison-street bridges is serious. The pressure of the water from underneath has broken up the approaches on either side. The draw of the Morrison-street bridge is now being turned around by hand, while the lower part of the draw is several inches under water. There traffic is still going on over the Madison-street bridge, and since every other thoroughfare to the east side of the river has been closed, the travel on this one bridge is cnormous.

At 10 o'clock tonight the river here is stationary, and will undoubtedly begin to fall by morning. During ten hours today the rise was only one-tenth of a foot, and reports from Eastern Oregon state that the Columbia and Snake rivers are rapidly falling. The damage will be apparent when the water begins to fall. Nearly every dock in the city has been floated out of place, and when the water recedes they will settle down and many of them will collapse. Sawmills are heavy losers by reason of immense quantities of lumber and logs floating out.

As far as learned not a life has been lost in this vicinity. Tonight thousands of pleasure-seekers are out on First, Second, Third and Fourth streets in boats. Many business men in the flooded district will be ruined. They neglected to raise their stocks and move out before the water reached them, and when the demand for boats and wagons exceeded the supply they were unable to secure assistance.

The Union Pacific is practically a week between this city and Umatilla, a distance of 200 miles. Much of their rolling stock is also damaged. In this city many engines are standing in four feet of water, and at The Dalles a number of engines are under water except the smoke-stacks.

INCALCULABLE DAMAGE.

SALT LAKE, June 6.—Superintendent Bancroft of the mountain division of the Union Pacific road returned this morning from the flooded regions along the Snake and Columbia rivers in Idaho and Washington and Oregon. He reports that the damage done is simply incalculable. The water cannot be controlled, and will continue to rise for some days yet, as there is an immense amount of snow in the mountains at the heads of all the tributaries to the rivers named.

Mr. Bancroft says: "We simply have to bear it, and are accommodating the water all we can." He will start back again this evening.

ESTIMATING THE DAMAGE.

TACOMA (Wash.,) June 6. — Railroad men and others are beginning to estimate the damage done by the floods throughout the Northwest. A number of conservative men have placed the amount in the neighborhood of $5,000,000. It is estimated that the floods and washouts of tracks and loss of business will cause a loss of at least $500,000 to each of the Great Northern and Candian Pacific roads, and nearly as much to the Northern Pacific. Railroad men here think it will take the Great Northern and Canadian Pacific a month to fully repair their tracks, and the Northern Pacific nearly as long.

Gov. McKinley was given an ovation on entering the hall. The Auditor of the State read the report of the Resolutions mittee which was adopted, with fre quent applause.

The platform is as follows:

'First-We reaffirm the platform and principles adopted by the Republican Na-tional Convention in 1892.

"Second—The people of Ohio delight to honor their able, distinguished and patri-otic public servant, the Hon. William Mc Kinley. They indorsed his administration of State affairs during his first term by rever given to any candidate for Governor in time of peace, and we, as accredited representatives of the 43,000 Republicans, do most heartly indorse his most honest, able and efficient administration, and we esteem.

"Third—We commend the Seventy-first General Assembly of the State.

"Fourth—We commend the course of our Republican representatives in Congress and of our illustrious Senator, John Sherman. "Fifth-We recognize the tariff of 1890 known as the McKinley act, as the ablest expression of the patriotic principle of protection yet enacted, and condemn and denounce any attempt to repeal or amend it, which does not have for its object bet-ter protection for labor and American interests than is insured by it.

"Ninth—We demand such protection for sheep husbandry as will insure fair prices for wool. Tenth—We denounce the treatment o for wool.

"Tenth—We denounce the treatment of American farmers and workingmen by the Democratic committee of the Senate.

"Eleventh—We denounce the present Democratic administration, its Hawaiian Folicy having been a national disgrace.

"Twelfth—We denounce the administration of the present Pension Bureau as a delicate betrayal of the welfare of Union soldiers and sailors.

"Thirteenth—We demand the enactment of such legislation as will prevent the immigration of the vicious and criminal classes of laborers under contract, of paupers and Anarchists."

Plank sixteen commends the Nicaragua Canal. The resolution adds:

"We favor bimetallism. Silver as well as gold is one of the products of the United States. Its coinage and use as a circulating medium should be steadily maintained and stoutly encouraged by the national government, and we advocate such policy as will by discrimination.

S. M. Taylor was renominated for Secretary of State without opposition. John A. Shniek of Dayton was nominated for judge on the third ballot over F. J. Dykman, candidate for renomination, and John A. Price. C. E. Cross was renominated for member of the Board of Public Works, and C. A. Carson for school commissioner. Hon. S. A. Peters of Newton, ex-Congressman from the Seventh District, was the only name put in nomination, and he was elected by acclamation.

Judge Peters, on taking the chair, was loudly cheered. He made a rousing speech, describing the wreck of national prosperity by reason of the Democratic ascendency and the loss of reputations and credits suffered by Kansas because of the domination of the State by the People's party. A resolution was unanimously adopted at the close of his speech, extending congratulations to Governor-elect Lord of Oregon.

The convention took a recess until 3 o'clock to permit the chairman to select the Committee on Resolutions, etc. No business was transacted at the afternoon session, but addresses were delivered by prominent women-suffrage advocates, who were in favor of urging the convention to place a suffrage plank in its platform. The principal address was by J. Ellen Foster of Iowa, who made a strong plea for the general principale of woman suffrage and the expediency of making it a Republican issue in the present Kansas campaign.

She regards the proceedings in the nature of a test case and was not surprised at the filing of the claim. Further than these statements she would not talk. An idea of the probable defense was given last night by Mr. Wilson, one of Mrs. Stanford's attorneys. In an interview he said:

"The opinion of the Attorney-General of terview he said:

"The opinion of the Attorney-General of the United States is entitled to a great deal of consideration, but he is proceeding on a wrong assumption. I am free to say that I do not think the government will ever be able to collect anything from the estate of the late Leland Stanford. The government issued bonds to assist in the construction of the Central Pacific Railroad, but neither Mr. Stanford nor any one else ever agreed to pay the government back. The bonds operate as a second montgage. It is not a debt, and while the Attorney-General is perfectly right that in California the members of a corporation are personally responsible for the debts of the corporation, he is wrong in assuming that the mortgage is a debt.

mortgage and take the property, and that is all.

"So in this case of the Central Pacific Railroad Company, the government holds a second mortgage on the company's property of $60,000,000. The government, by paying the first mortgage of $60,000,000, can foreclose the second mortgage and get control of the road. But it is not to be presumed that the United States would care to expend $120,000,000 to get control of a road that could be built for one-third the amount."

William F. Harris, the railroad company's chief counsel, gave a similar expression of opinion. Neither of these lawyers, however, enters into discussion of the allegations of fraud which have been made by Congressman Maguire and others loudest in the demand for prosecution of the claims against C. P. Huntington and the Stanford, Crocker, Searles and other states.

the Stanford, Crocker, Searies and other estates.

Today is the last day under the law which Mrs. Stanford has to accept or reject the government's claim. It is believed she will simply ignore the claim, which in law amounts to rejection. It will then be in order for the government to institute suit, either in the United States courts or the Superior Court in San Francisco. 'Atty.-Gen. Olney's claim was filed in the Probate Court in San Francisco before Judge Coffey, where the Stanford estate is undergoing settlement.

Gaston gave the name to the Senate Investigating Committee today. The committee immediately sent for Cad-muz, and the latter testified as to the circumstances under which Mr. Gaston had related to him the details of the night conference at the Arlington Hotel.

Gaston related how the loud discussion had continued through the foregoing night.

The details, as given by Mr. Cadmus, were confirmatory of those already given by Gaston. Mr. Cadmus dld not say that Gaston mentioned the names of the public men, or others, but if he had learned any names he would positively decline to give

The insurrection in Corea has assumed a very serious phase. The rebels are principally in the party which adheres to Chinese doctrines, and opposes Western ideas and intercourse. The rebel leader is one Sat-Ji-Kyo, and his followers number 50,000. Having once defeated the government troops and several officials, the insurgents are much encouraged, and have attained great prestige. Three steamers, one a Chinese war-vessel, have already conveyed 8000 troops, 800,000 rounds of ammunition and two field-pieces to the scene of the disturbance. Among the cardinal principles of the rebels, declared in a manifesto published far and wide, is a demand to expel foreigners and purify the doctrines of the saints, and to put down those in authority. It is said that the native Roman Catholics have joined the rebels.

The steamer China also brings a peculiar story of the methods employed by the Japanese to smusgle girls into this country for immoral purposes. While the vessel was at the wharf at Yokohama, receiving her cargo, a Japanese came on board and asked to have four large boxes taken to his stateroom, but was refused, as the boxes were too large. of Ned Howe. Others not Harvard men may remember him also. But it will be with a pang.

"Howe is now in the Cook-county Jall at Chicago charged with swindling almost everybody who would listen to him for ten minutes, and the police of this city are hunting for his handsome and persuasive wife. It is estimated that she has taken $5000 within the last few months out of the pockets of the Harvard men of this and other cities, to whom she represented herself as the wife of an old Harvard man, helpless from paralysis.

and other cities, to whom she represented herself as the wife of an old Harvard man, helpless from paralysis.

"The name of the man is Edward Robbins Howe, Harvard, '64, and by his classmates, nearly every one of whom has suffered by him, he has been familiarly known as 'Ned' Howe. After being graduated from Harvard he studied in Germany and France, and then, returning to this country in 1868, held places of trust, in Western mines and in a San Francisco business office. He was one of the founders of the Harvard Club of San Francisco. 'Later he was a mining engineer in Colorado and Arizona, and in 1884 was appointed by the Governor as one of the commissioners from Southern California to the exhibition at New Orleans, It was in Los Angeles in '1884 that Howe met the woman whom the police of this city are now after ands married her. His 'misfortunes' have dated since that time.

"The woman has a reputation all her own. Her real name was Martha E. Stiles, and she was born in New England in 1848. After the war she began her swindling career, beginning with Grand Army posts. She told a romantic and thrilling story. She said that she had enrolled in the Twenty-seventh Massachusetts Volunteers as a drummer-boy, and served until the battle of Lookout Mountain. There, at her post of duty, she was wounded, and her sex was discovered.

served until the battle of Lookout Mountain. There, at her post of duty, she was wounded, and her sex was discovered.

"This was a pretty story, and Martha made hundreds of dollars on it. Finally some one took the trouble to find out that her story was a fairy tale from start to finish. Then Martha, who called herself Kate Clayton, vanished.
"She married Ned Howe in 1884, as has been told, and together they went on a starring tour and 'worked' the Grand Army posts throughout the West with brilliant success. In 1885 they went on the stage, and at Boston appeared in Mme. Modjeska's company; but they soon tired of this, and started in to swindle Harvard men.

"Ned Howe, who was already indebted

"Ned Howe, who was already indebted to almost every one of his classmates, including ex-Secretary and ex-Minister Rebert T. Lincoln, proyed a shining success with his wife, but, on December 7 last, he was arrested by the president of the Harvard Club in Chicago and was locked in a cell, where he still is.

"His trial has been postponed from time to time, because, as Ned says, he hasn't been able to get counsel. The real reason is that he has had no money, but only a few days ago a retaining fee was received at Chicago from this city, and the only explanation is that it came from the pockets of Harvard men in this city, passing through the hands of his wily and engaging wife."

A Spot in Persis Where the Thermometer Shows 130 in the Shade.

The hottest region on the earth's surface is on the southwestern coast of Persia, on the borders of the Persian Gulf, says an exchange. For forty consecutive days in the months of July and August the mercury has been known to stand above 100 deg. in the shade night and day, and to run up as high as 130 deg. in the middle of the afternoon. At Bahrin, in the center of the most torrid part or the most torrid belt, as though it were nature's intention to make the place as unbearable as possible, water from wells is something unknown. Great shafts have been sunk to depth of 500 feet, but always with the same result—no water. Notwithstarding this serious drawback, a numerous population contrives to live there, thanks to copious springs, which burst forth from the bottom of the gulf more than a mile from the shore. The water from these springs is obtained in a most curious and novel manner. Machadores, whose sole occupation is that of furnishing the people of Bahrin with the life-giving fluid, repair to that portion of the gulf where the springs are situated and bring away with them hundreds of skin bags full of the water each day. The water of the gulf where the springs burst forth is nearly two hundred feet deep, but the machadores—divers—manage to fill their goat-skin sacks by diving to the bottom and holding the mouths of the bags over the fountain jets; this, too, without allowing the salt water of these submarine fountains is thought to be in the hills of Osmond, 500 miles away. Being situated at the bottom of the gulf, it is a mystery how they were ever discovered, but the fact remains they have been known since the dawn of history.

The Populist Female Writer Contradicts Stories of Woman Sufrage Discord.

TOPEKA, Oct. 23.—Mrs. Anna L. Diggs, the Populist worker and writer and a leader in the suffrage cause, does not like the stories of discord in the suffrage ranks. She says there is no discord and never has been. She, however, criticises Mrs. Lease for writing her letter to Mrs. Johns, which, she says, was entirely uncalled for. She thinks Mrs. Lease had no ground for accusing Mrs. Johns of duplicity. She regards Mrs. Johns as the most enthusiastic suffrage worker in the State, who has accomplished more good for it than any other woman in the State. She denies that the suffrage meetings have been partisan. She says they have been stripped of party politics entirely.

SPORTING RECORD. THE ENGLISH DERBY

Lord Rosebery Fulfills His Predictions.

His Horse Wins the Race in an Easy Canter.

An Immense Throng and Plenty of Enthusiasm.

A 100-Mile Cowboy Race at Chadron, Neb. Salisbury's Stables Go to Denver-Games Curtailed Because of Rain.

LONDON, June 6.— (By Atlantic Cable the Derby was run to-day and Lades won in a canter in 2.45 4-5, Matchbox second, Reminder third and Hornbeam fourth. The distance was about a mile and a half. The purse was £6000, of which the winner received £5000. The starting prices was 9 to 2 on adas, 9 to 1 against Matchbox and 33 to 1 against Reminder. Place betting was 100 to 8 on Ladas, 100 to 3 on Matchbox 6 to 4 against Reminder.

After the race Ladas was surrounded by a multitude half-mad with enthusiasm. When Lord Rosebery appeared on the course to lead Ladas back to the paddock, strong force of police was sent to pro-cect the Premier from the crush of the crowds. There was a tremendous outburst of enthusiasm as Lord Rosebery and Ladas entered the paddock, and for today, at ast, the most popular man in England is the proud owner of Ladas, the winner

Ladas was the quickest away, but was box led, Bullingdon second, Reminder third, and Hornbeam next, Ladas was then a length in front of Clevyd, and Galloping Dick was two lengths in the rear. Bullingdon at the mile post joined Matchbox, and the pair advanced side by side Hornbeam, Ladas and Reminder, Clevyd was last. the hilltop Matchbox took the lead by a length; Bullingdon and Hornbeam were at his heels, and just in front of Ladas and Reminder. After reaching the straight, Ladas pulled to the front, and soon had assumed the lead, winning in soon had assumed the lead, winning in a canter.

It is doubtful if so much interest has ever before been taken in the Derby. There were several causes for this state of affairs. In the first place many thousands of people were anxious to see the Derby because it is the great event of the turf; in the second place, Ladas, owned by the Prime Minister of Great Britain, was looked upon as being the horse of the year, his previous victories having won him hosts of friends who longed to see once more the primrose and rose hoops with rose-colored cap (Lord Rosebery's colors) flying to the front of everything else in the field.

Thus it was that the special trains at it was that the special trains at Thus it was that the special trains at London bridge and Victoria stations, which ran every five minutes, were packed to the utmost with the usual crowd of racegoers, augmented by many people who had never before ventured to Epsom, but who went there today in order to see "Rosebery win the third event."

The morning was dull and dreary, rain threatening and fog predeminating. But a snowstorm would not have kept those crowds away from Epsom Downs today.

None Equal in Flavor.

None Prettier in Shape.

The travelers to Epsom by train, however, jammed, laughing and swearing, growling and singing, into the stuffy box like carriages, were only one portion of the throng bound to the "Derby." By far the noisiest, though joiliest portion of the race-going public, traveled to Epsom by the road in time-honored fashion by the aristocratic four-in-hand tandem and dog-cart, heavy dray, "the four-wheeler," the market wagon, the van and by any other kind of vehicle mentionable, not forgetting the famous coster-monger's donkey-cart, with its excessive load of beer-soaked humanity.

Over one hundred thousand people, according to the estimate, journeyed to Epsom today by road, or rall in some smanner or other, the attendance being above the average in point of numbers and respectability. But the pickpocket, thimble-rigger, bruiser and negro-minstrel frater-nities were out in force, mingling with gaudity-dressed females, pretty maidens, members of Parliament, clerks, etc. Among the royalty and nobility present were the Prince and Princess of Wales, Duke of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha, Duke of Cambridge, Duke and Duchess of Portland, Duke of Devonshire, Duke of Wesminster, Lord Rosebery, Earl Cadogan, Earl of Coventry, Marquis of Londonderry and Lord Randolph Churchill.

The race is described as follows from the grand stand: At the starting signal the horses seemed to get off well together and appeared to be doubtful until the distance was reached. Ladas seemed then to draw out with ease, and, as though he had been playing with the others, won in a canter by a length and a half in 2:45 4-5. Six lengths separated the second horse, Matchbox, from the third, Reminder, while Hornboam was fourth and Clevyd was fifth. Ladas is a direct descendent of Whalebone, who won the Derby for the Duke of Grafton, when he was Prime Minister in 1810. Ladas is by Hampton, son of Lord Clifton, by Newmanster, whose sire was Touchstone by Camal, son by Whalebone.

CINCINNATI, June 6.—The weather was perfect for the racing at Latonia today, and a large crowd came out and lost money. Only one favorite, J. P. B., in the second race, came in first, and was held at prohibitive odds. The surprises began with the first race, when G. B. Cox, a 20-to-1 shot, won under a drive. In four races the favorites were nowhere. Val-lera ran eighth in the first race. Sligalera ran eighth in the first race. Sliga-rio finished absolutely last in the third. Princess Irene ran fifth in the fifth race, and Odyli finished next to last in the final event. Miss Porter, 8 to 1: Volador, 6 to 1; and Say On won the fourth, fifth and sixth races, respectively.

The committee has concluded that any plan of reorganization must be based on a readjustment of the debt to the United States, and that no reorganization would be practicable until after the settlemen of the terms of such readjustment. The debt to the United States, with interest amounts to about $70,000,000, and thi amounts to about $70,000,000, and this debt, together with that owing on the prior first-mortgage bonds, in all amounting to about $33,000,000, will mature at several dates before the year 1899, and must necessarily be provided for in any reorganization. It is his opinion that the system can be reorganized upon a safe basis, and with justice to all security-holders, provided the claims of the United States can be settled substantially upon the following terms:

First—The delivery to the United States of 100-year bonds bearing interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum for the entire amount of the debt, including both windight and interest converted to principal and interest computed to ma-turity, such bonds to be secured by a mortgage on the main line and Kansas Pacific divisions of the Union Pacific Com-pany, including the Omaha bridge and terpany, including the Omana bridge and terminals, and a sinking fund to be provided for the redemption of the entire issue within 130 years by annual payments after the year 1895. This will create a charge of $1,400,000 per annum for interest until 1905, and thereafter the annual charge would be $1,450,000 for interest and sink would be $1,450,000 for interest and sinking fund combined.

Second—The securities now held by the United States in the sinking fund under the Sherman act to be applied to the redemption of underlying first mortgage bonds, amounting to about $20,000,000, to be extended or renewed at a rate of interest not exceeding 5 per cent., a sinking fund being provided for the redemption of these bonds. A bill providing for a settlement of the claim of the United States substantially upon these terms has been drafted by the Attorney-General of the United States, and has been submitted by him to Congress. We believe that holders of bonds which must be distributed and creditors and sdockholders interested in the system can be provided for upon an equitable basis by the creation of the following new securities:

A—An issue of general mortgage bonds bearing interest at the rate of 4 per cent, secured by a general mortgage covering the entire system, subject to such mortgage ascannot be disturbed as to the lien of the Unitel States upon the main lines and Kansas Pacific for the adjusted debt.

B—An issue of the 5 per cent preferred

After the devotional services, a jubilee service, at which John Wanamaker presided, took place. Among those present were: Prince Oscar of Sweden, Vice-President Alfred Andre, Prince Bernadotte, Count Von Bernstorff, Rev. T. L. Cuyler of New York, and others.

Mr. Wanamaker said this was a wonderful conference, and that it showed how good the world was, and how near each one was to each other, and how possible it was that the whole world should be converted to God. There was no longer such a thing as a stranger or foreigner in their midst, in spite of the strange twist in their tongues.

German Silver Conference Reaches Pessimistic Conclusion. clated Press Leased-wire Service.

BERLIN, June 6.—In a speech closing the meetings of the Imperial Silver Com-mission today, Count von Posadowsky, the Imperial Secretary of the Treasury, said that he believed that the members were agreed that fluctuation depreciated the value of silver and entailed certain losses upon Germany's foreign and home trade; that Germany alone was powerless to raise the price of silver, and that it was impractical to do so, either by creation of monopoly by international management or by the regulation of the production. The members of the commission would render a public service by helping spread the conviction that serious difficulties at-tended the solution of the silver question.

CONGRESS-THE CONVENTION TODAY.

The important preliminary contest over a Congressional nomination is expected to occur in the Republican County Convention today. There are at least four candidates from Los Angeles county.

(1.) Henry T. Hazard - "Hones Harry"-whom everybody knows and about everybody, except the "programme" politicians, likes. He stands for pure politics, straight Republicanism, and San Pedro Harbor.

(2.) James McLachlan of Pasadena, who though an amiable fellow personally, is, we fear, tinctured with that fatat political disease. Lindlevism: who is not sound on the harbor question, and who has other disabilities which would make his election problematical, even if he should succeed in the contest for the nomination The Times does not think meanly of Mr McLachlan, and would prefer to see him divested of what we consider his political disabilities, in order that he might stan even in the race.

(3.) Ex-Gov. L. A. Sheldon, also of Pasadena, who was supposed to have withdrawn some days ago, but is now declared by himself and friends to be still in the field. Gen. Sheldon has had Congressional experience and much other public life. He Congress again. He could render Los Angeles valuable service in the allimportant harbor matter; but we are not fully convinced that he is entirely sound on the peoples' side of the issue. San Pedro is the peoples' side.

(4.) Ex.-Gov. J. J. Gosper is also a candidate, very recently come into th race. He does not possess the prominence of the other candidates, but claims sources of special strength, and is very confident. He and Gov. Sheldon will, to some extent, draw from the same source of strength.

It is for the convention to decide be tween these and other possible aspirants. It is not improbable that, in a contest so mixed and uncertain as the pending one, there will be no result today-no instruction for any candidate. The ultimate de cision will have to be left to the Sixth District Congress Convention at Sacramento, where it belongs.

On one point the county convention will have to take action before the position of candidates is clearly defined. There should be a square issue made on the haphor question-for and against the government site.

UNWISE, IMPOLITIC AND UNJUST.

The Times gives place in this morning's issue to a communication over the pseudonym of "Methodist," protesting against the attempt to take the Methodist church, in this section of the State, bodily into the Prohibition party. The protest is certainly well-timed, and is deserving of respectful est, and by all who believe in that freedom of thought and action which every citizen, theoretically at least, is entitled to

As the correspondent points out, the church in question is likely to lose a siderable part of its membership if this course of action be insisted upon and persisted in. The Methodist church, like all other religious organizations, contains within its membership men of diverse political views, each of whom is, supposedly, as conscientious in his political as in his religious faith. To attempt to dragoon all members of the church into voting for a designated political party is at once unjust and impracticable, and must certainly prove futile. It is also actically certain to prove disastrous to e prosperity of the church, if long con-

The recent action of a certain portion faction of the church, designed to commit every voting member thereof to the Prohibition party's cause, was not only ill advised and impolitic, but was a grave injustice to those whom it most directly affected. It was also a course of action as above stated, that is likely to result i serious injury to the interests of the church itself, which contains a large number of members who will insist upon their in political matters, and will vindicate that right, if necessary, by withdrawal from the church which seeks to circumscrib their liberty in this regard. tion cause, moreover, will gain nothing by church will thereby be compelled to vote the Prohibition ticket against his hones convictions.

MR. OSEORNE WITH A CLUB IN HIS

Mr. H. Z. Osborne of the Evening Ex press is a self-announced, a persistent, and a very anxious candidate in today's convention for delegate-at-large to the Re publican State Convention.

He has been in the habit of swinging a rather sickly club, labeled "Federal Brigade"-"Member of the State Committee." and has recently announced in a loud and excited voice, "I am high in the councils of the Republican party!" etc., etc., and so forth.

The logic of the situation does not point to Mr. Osborne as the proper or natural candidate, nor as one who deserves in an eminent degree the support of the half a thousand delegates who will make up the convention.

He has just come out of a severely-cor tested campaign in his own ward - the Fourth-in which he was rejected by an overwhelming vote (nearly three to one) in his aspirations to become a ward delegate to the county convention. This was done despite the usual "programme" tactics employed by him and his ilk; despite personal appeals and all sorts of log-rolling. His Republican neighbors would not have him. Their judgment is entitled to respect, and may safely be taken as a guide by the Republican delegates from the county generally when they come to vote

The trouble-or at least one of the troubles-with Mr. Osborne is that he is a faction candidate, pure and simple. He does not stand as a fair representative of the Republicans of this county, and has at best but limited ability in a political declares himself completely free from body. He would not, if elected (which all entangling alliances, and that he will not be) shed luster upon the name will remain so should he enter of our great southern county in the State assemblage of Republicans.

His small antagonisms and perennial self-seeking have impaired his usefulness and unfitted him for the larger sphere in which he seeks to figure. He has made a direct personal appeal to the delegates earner. The insufferable rubbish that has for support: but these gentlemen are to sit as judges, as arbiters in an important political matter, as well as in the capacity of honored servants of their constituents, whose will they are bound to obey. The delegates are also bound to do the very wisest and best possible thing in the selection of a delegate-at-large, as well as in filling the other places to be filled. The conviction is beginning to obtain among them, as we hear on many sides, that the very wisest and best possible thing to do. under the circumstances would not be to elect Mr. Osborne-not

now. With the best interests of the party at heart, the delegates will not be likely to vote for a man who persists in thrusting his personal ambitions into the contest, re gardless of the effect thereon, and who is constantly demanding "recognition" at the hands of a party which is no man's servant or paymaster. These oft-repeated importunities for place and "pap" on Mr. Osborne's part have become tiresome to Republicans, and they resent his effrontery. His various chases after Federal and State offices high and low-now numbering seven or eight distinct hunts within half as many years, and all of them unsuccessful save one-have not laid a proper foundation for the distinction which he seeks today at the hands of his Republican fellow-citizens. On the contrary, the reverse is considered to be the case.

It is probably true that the average Republican delegate, who is a considerate and amiable man as a rule, might, at first blush, with a type-written and personallysigned petition before him, asking for his vote on personal grounds purely, be inclined to waive objections, pass by the claims of better men, disregard both merit and expediency, and vote compliance with a mere personal, private solicitation—an appeal to "Help me, Cassius, or I sink!"

But when that delegate stops to think, to consider the case on the merits; to bring his cool judgment up against his inclination to simply do the amiable without regard to the personal merits and bidding of any man or class of men. As the political considerations involved; when When, oh, when, is the well expect every adherent of the Prohibihe comes to reflect that in voting for delecratic millenium to begin?

gate-at-large he is voting for the whole county, aiding to express its deliberate choice, aiding to voice sentiments before the assembled Republicans of California, he will hesitate, revise his original intention, reverse his original purpose, and cast his vote for some man who can justly be called a fair representative of the great body of Republicans of a great county. He will, in short, vote against H. Z. Osborne.

Such will be, as indications no plainly point, the course of most of the thinking delegates in today's convention on the subject of delegate-at-large. They will resent the impudent swinging of Mr Osborne's factionist club in their faces. defy his dictatorial commands, declare their own independence, and vote for

Since the foregoing was written, the fact develops that Mr. Osborne's personal egotism and greedy, grasping demands upon the convention are more insufferable than ever. He does not even say "By your leave" to a body of 500 representative Republicans, but impudently calls upon them, by inference, to elect him a delegate-at-large, whether or no, for the sake of the "personal vindication" which he thinks such election would give him!

Suppose the convention refuses? Suppose it should say, as it will, in effect: "Mr Osborne, we know nothing about your grievances, your private ambitions, your lofty political aspirations, your petty spites, or your alleged 'claims' upon this convention or upon the Republican party. We only know that you have been repudiated by your own ward, and, in common decency, you ought to go a little slow on this floor, where you do not belong as delegate. We have many persons and many interests to consider here today; we cannot consider your interests or wishes exclusively, to the detriment of larger subjects or better men. We decline to take orders from you, and are indifferent both to blandishments and threats. direct or oblique. We refuse to surrender this arena to awkward political 'scrappers' like yourself, whose only aim is to contend over minor personal matters, of no special concern to the Republican party and only productive of discord and bad blood. No one besides yourself has made such a demand upon us, and your game of bluff won't work on THIS body. You must evense us Mr Osborne for we have business, and lots of it, before us." . . (A delegate. "Mr. Chairman, I call for the regular order.")

Suppose, we say, that uneasy Osborn of the Oxpress should have the riot ac read to him in this neat but not gaudy style, what would he do? Suppose pobody pays any attention to his "bluff," how is he going to get a hearing? Suppose he attempts to exhibit his bruised cabeza in public, and the convention won't have it Certainly he can get no aid in quarter in his frantic effort to create a petty, personal disturbance in the con vention today, or in the Republican party His bluff is met with indifference and con tempt.

It will be lamentable if Breckinridge's district has not enough staunch morality to withstand the seductions of his oratory but it looks woefully as if his silve tongued speech would be sufficient to over come its prejudice against him. It is shameful spectacle to see a crowd of 400 with such applause "that he could no as was the case at Frankfort on the 4th partisan politics is stronger in Kentucky than Southern chivalry and Southern man

The farmer is better off, all things sidered, than any other class of toilers. It has been devised and circulated principally by political "farmers"-men who don't know the difference between a hay-rake and threshing machine.

How about "the poor man's breakfasttable" now? The Senate's amendment to the sugar schedule, passed on Tuesday imposes a duty of 40 per cent. ad valo rem on all imported sugars, whether raw or refined. The concurrence of the House conclusion, and the early passage of the poor man's breakfast-table," concerning which our free-trade friends have herete fore been so solicitous?

Reports from the North lay great stres upon the alleged strength of M. M. Estee in his race for the gubernatorial nomina-tion. Such reports should be received with many grains of allowance. Estee is not a winner. He threw the Republicans down in 1882, and will do it again if nom-inated. We say this "in sorrow, not in anger," so to speak. FIELD OF POLITICS.

The Republican County Convention Today.

Full List of Delegates Received Up to Last Evening.

The Three Leading Candidates for the Chairmanship,

The Lindley-Webber Gang Trying to Secur the Organization - Some of the Schemes Which They Will Try to Work.

The Republican County Convention will meet in Music Hall on South Spring street this morning at 10 o'clock. All yesterday workmen were busy decorating the hall and arranging the seats, and this morning everything will be found in readiness for the delegates, invited guests and specta-tors generally. The convention will be the largest ever held in the county, the total number of delegates under the call being 519, of whom 270 are from the county and 249 from the city. One hundred and fifty invitations have been sent out to prominent citizens, and these, with the commit teemen, members of the press, etc., and delegates will occupy the main floor of the hall. The gallery, which will accom-modate about five hundred people, will be open for the general public.

The convention will be called to order by Charls Silent, chairman of the County Central Committee, after which a tem porary organization will be effected Among those mentioned for the chairman ship are T. W. Brotherton, S. G. Millard and G. Wiley Wells, with the chances in favor of the first-named, although My Millard has quite a strong following. Mr. Brotherton has not heretofore taken a prominent part in local politics. He is an prominent part in local politics. He is an Ohio man, and was regarded as one of the foremost lawyers of that State, standing high in the estimation of Gov. Foraker and others. He is a good parliamentarian, and, it is believed, can handle the convention in case he is called upon to preside over its deliberations.

The proceedings throughout promise to be very interesting, and the results will be watched with the greatest interest. It is believed that the convention will be one of surprises, and they will be looked for all along the line.

The Webber-Lindley-Burns combination have been working like beavers to secure have been working like beavers to secure enough pledges from delegates who will be present in the convention, and by purchase or influence to secure proxies from absentees to hold the balance of power and get control of the working machinery. Their main object is to secure the Committee on Order of Business, and that on Platform and Resolutions. With the firs committee under their control they dictate the method of selecting the dictate the method of selecting the delegates to the State Convention, and shut out as many as possible who are antagonistic to their combination and opposed to their candidates for Supreme Court and Congress. The Southern Pacific Raliroad has delegates pledged to Santa Monica Harbor in many of the city wards, and a considerable number in the country. The Santa Monica delegation, if thrown into a Supervisor district to select State delegates, will offset San Pedro, which is naturally opposed to them. With the Committee on Platform and Resolutions under control the ring can stiffe any resolution offered which they consider objectionable. A movement could be organized to defeat the ring by having every resolution offered read by the secretary to the convention, and then referred to the committee. This would defeat the cut-anddried programme, as any resolution which the conventions as whole defeat the cut-pacgates to the State Convention, and shu dried programme, as any resolution which the convention as a whole desire to incor-porate in the platform can be called up and submitted to the convention for an exand submitted to the convention for an expression of opinion as to its value.

It is learned as a fact that "Big Wobber," the gambler, wired Dan Burns in San Francisco that he would deliver the Los Angeles delegation solid for the Lindley-Burns-Webber combination. As a result of this telegram a prominent ward politician in this city yesterday received a dispatch from one of Dan Burns's lieutenants to instruct the Los Angeles delegation that "the State ticket would be a short-haired one," and to get into camp and shout for Burns, Rainey, Webber, Buckley and Lindley.

Webber has many irons in the fire and is said to be the active agent of a secret association whose members are doing polities.

association whose members are doing politics throughout the State, with head quarters in San Francisco, and who hav nt out the following circular heir executive committee, which accounts or "Gambler" Webber's desire to sit as a delegate in the State convention him the money he has so lavishly expended in the manipulation of the caucus and primary election.

"Dear Sir: As you are doubtless aware we have organized an association among the wholesale liquor dealers of this city for the purpose of protecting your interests and the trade generally throughout the State. It is of the utmost importance that we should be recognized by the various political conventions hereafter to be held in California. The Republican convention meets upon the 19th prox. Use every endeavor possible to secure the election of delegates to the convention who will assist us in promoting our interests; will assist us in promoting our interests and also please secure for us every proxy possible from delegates elected and send and also please secure for us every proxy possible from delegates elected and send the proxies to our secretary, Winfield Scott, No. 101 Sansome street, San Francisco."

(A copy of this circular has been sent to every sure agent of the association throughout the State.).

The fact that Webber's family residence is in Santa Monica will not deter him from attempting to represent the Eighth Ward of this city, and he will endeavor to fortify his position with affidavits covering the fact that he has paid room rent for a room in the Eleventh Precinct, which he occupies on an average of once in three months. That he is recognized as a boss in Republican politics regardless of his malodorous gambling record was strongly in evidence at an interview which he held with H. Z. Osborne in reference to the latter's candidacy for delegate-at-large, and at which Webber pledged the Eighth Ward to him.

Yesterday afternoon Judges Clark and McKinley agreed to leave the matter of hteir candidacy for the Supreme Judgeship to a vote of the convention, which will simplify this proposition.

COMPLETELY DEMORALIZED. Osborne et al Should Take Their Medicine

LOS ANGELES, June 5.—(To the Edi-LOS ANGELES, June 5.—(To the Editor of The Times.) One need not be startled at anything that may take place in the great political field from now on until the end of the fight in November next. Yet the occurrences in the past few days seem to have completely demoralized those who thought that this county or State could not hold a convention without they were delegates. Brother Osborne of the Express was one who got caught in the sanow, and was given to understand that there were other men whom the people had more faith in than he. Yet after re-had more faith in than he. Yet after receiving the severe but deserved rebuke, he comes forward with a wail of wee and asks to be made a delegate-at-large, with the promise that he will vote for anything, and in any way, if he be allowed to go to the State convention.

He also has the cheek to challenge you to come forth in the same light and on the same footing, to see which of you would be chosen by the power that turned him down. Please allow me to say at this point that were you to accept his challenge your chances would be far more favorable than his, for the very reason that caused his downfall, namely, that you do not support the Lindley faction or ring. Mr. Osborne may as well understand now, and for all time to come that factions and rings are at an end, in this stand now; and for all time to come that factions and rings are at an end, in this part of the State, at least. The men who landed this knock-out blow did not do it simply to show their strength, as Mr. Osborne pretends to believe, but they have had enough of Lindleyism and have come out for clean politics. Now, Friend Osborne, a word of advice: Take your defeat like a man, and make no effort to enter a door that has been closed against you by the vote of the people.

Very respectfully,

THOMAS W. CLARKSON.

SANTA BARBARA REPUBLICANS. Delegates Elected to the State Convention-

How They Stand.

SANTA BARBARA, June 6.—(Special Dispatch.)- The Republican County vention assembled this morning in Grand Army Hall on West Ortega street. The meeting was called to order by J. W. Taggart, secretary of the County Central Com-mittee. J. M. Halloway was asked to act as temporary chairman, and J. L. Huribut was nominated for temporary chairman. Although the seven delegates from Lompoc were pledged to make a stand for county division and intended to begin the fight in this convention by demanding fight in this convention by demanding that a committee be appointed to establish boundary lines for the proposed new county, there will be nothing done at this session on account of the number of proxies from other sections in the northern part of the county. This issue, however, is likely to be made an absorbing one in the next county campaign. It was unanimously resolved by the convention that the delegates to the State convention should act as delegates from this county that the delegates to the State convention should act as delegates from this count to the Fourth District Equalization Con-vention, to the Third District Commission ers Convention and to the Sixth District ers Convention and to the Sixth District Congress Convention. J. W. Taggart was elected delegate at large to the State convention. There were nearly as many candidates for nomination for the State convention as there were delegates to the county meeting. The election resulted in the following being chosen: Thomas Boyd, Walter Elliott, L. Lawrence Harris, W. L. Talbott, Con Murphy, S. P. Stow, Arthur Bell, R. J. Broughton, C. R. Diver, J. T. Johnson; delegate at large, J. W. Taggart. The sentiment of the delegates is said to be favorable to Barnes for Governor, against H. T. Hazard for Congress and strong in favor of B. T. Williams of Ventura for Justice of the Supreme Court.

Politics in the Methodist Church.

LOS ANGELES, June 6.—(To the Editor of The Times.) As the A.P.A. seemed to many a necessity to resist the Roman Catholic church in national, State, county, city and school affairs, so now it seems to some of the most loyal, true and able members of the Methodist Episcopal church necessary to withdraw because of politics. First, a temperance meeting was presided over by the presiding Elder of Los Angeles district, which passed resolutions that virtually carries the Methodist Episcopal church in the third or Prohibition party. This was done in an evening session, after some pastors and others opposed it, and seemed to bring the convention to their senses, and withdrew. Then the Epworth League Convention, with full consent of said elder, publicly given, sent out to every church and pastor pledges to be signed by members, giving them the privilege of choosing their own political affiliations, but pledging them to vote for no party but the Prohibition party, thus violating the action of the general conference. Now there are some members who are Populists, or Democrats, or Republicans, and no pope, bishop, elder or pastor can dictate to them who they shall vote for. Perhaps they are not as good or wise as those who try to drive or steal them from their parties, and their non-party prohibition action, but results may show that, while revivals bring in 200,000 members this year, unwise political action will lose as many and as good members to the Methodist Episcopal church. Look at the declaration and pledge:

Declaration accondit "Liberty to choose political affiliations, but a personal pledge of voters to cast their ballot only for such men as are known to be opposed to the licensing of Politics in the Methodist Church saloons, and to support only such parties as are committed to the abolition of the s are committed to the abolition of the quor traffic." Now, no such party ex-sts except third or Prohibition party. with the Populist party, De Republican party. "Believing we shall have

"Belleving we shall have your hearty co-operation in this good work we are cordially yours, "GEORGE W. WHITE, Chairman.

Hence, unless we intend to work or the Prohibition ticket, halt and think.

COMPTON (Cal.,) June 4, 1894 .- (To the

METHODIST. The Road Question

Editor of The Times.) Like Lyman Allen I am surprised that your correspondents have so little to say about the $750,000 bond issue for roads. After coming to California I missed the gravel beds of the East, and, looking around for a remedy, I noticed that some kinds of soil never seemed to cut up with travel, wet or dry. So I took alkall soil of this kind from beside the road with a cart-scraper and hauled it on one of the sandlest pieces of road in our neighborhood. I made this kind of road one rod wide, about ten inches deep and ten rods tong. It has been a complete success, summer and winter, and a pleasure to go over. Now I believe some kind of good road dirt could be found near enough to every sandy or adobe road in the county to cover up the sand or sticky mud. It seems to me that the proposed amount is too large for one job. If we should spend say one-fourth of this amount on some of our main lines the men having it in charge would become posted, and the people learn what money would do for our roads. Seven hundred and fifty thousand dollars means enough to build 750 homes worth $1000 each. Besides, many think that incorporated cities and towns would not share in the expense and texes, although all would be benefited. All the facts and benefits of such a bond issue should be truthfully set forth by those who know. Money spent on roads as a rule pays largely, but even this might be overdone. Respectfully, ditor of The Times.) Like Lyman Aller

DELINQUENT TAXES.

The Time for Redemption Will Expire in

The attention of property-owners who lave property which has been sold delinquent city taxes, is again called to the fact that the time in which they may make redemptions without a greatly increased expense, will, in many unless the purchaser of the tax sale cer-tificate fails to give the proper notice to the taxpayer.

Property-owners wishing to make re-demptions may apply to the City Clerk, who will give information about how to Pardon us for the repetition with which we accentuate the fact that if you desire anything in the way of useful and orna mental jewelry you would be looking own interest to take advantage of that auction sale now in progress at the store of M. German, at No. 320 South Spring street.

If you had seen the aggregation of people that were gathered in German's store yesterday afternoon, that filled the sidewalk and pressed into the street, you might have thought that Father McGlynn was in there preaching on the justness and equity of the single tax. Instead of Father McGlynn, however, it was, in fact, Auctioneer T. E. Dawson, as great a man, too, within the lines of his profession, and almost as widely known; and Auctioneer Dawson was making people happy by distributing articles of high value to hundreds of people who happened to have some small change in their pockets which

How many people in Los Angeles have purchased articles at M. German's store during this sale? Not as many different persons as from the size of the sales you might think, as many persons come time and time again and make purchases. There are those who have gotten to be regular customers of these ales. But they can't long continue. The sales can only last a few days, so if you want jawelry get in line. Sale begins at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m., No. 320 South Spring street.

The Trouble in the Fire Department.

Strained Relations Between Some of-the Men.

The Commissioners Investigating the Charges.

McMahon, Engineer Heany and Others - Drunkenness Preely Charged-The Courts.

The Fire Commissioners' investigation was the principal topic of conversation ut the City Hall yesterday. That the dition of the department is disgracefu has been for some time believed, but the of affairs which the evidence in the case is developing seems to be something worse. Councilmen Munson, Nickell, Rhodes and Strohm were attentive tors during most of the time that testi-mony was being taken.

At the Courthouse the trial of the al-leged-Roscoe train-robbers was the fea-ture of interest.

AT THE CITY HALL.

Investigating the Charges Against Membe of the Department.

The Fire Commission met yesterday norning, with a full attendance. The routine business was taken up first and the Chief reported that $234 was the share of the benefit for the firemen's relief fund from the entertainments given last was filed, requisitions for horses having already been presented.

A communication from Arthur E. Olshausen and others, complained in reference to the smoke from the engines used to pump oil near want is known as Secondstreet Park and asked the board to take some action in the matter. The communication was referred to committee of the whole, it being understood the board will investigate in a body.

A petition from C. H. A. Hagerman and others, asking that N. Canepa be granted permission to erect on his property on the west side of San Pedro street, between sixth and Seventh streets, a building to be used as a blackmith shop, was referred to the Chief.

Applications from H. T. Kenoyer for an appointment as driver, and from W. H. Johnson for an appointment as caliman, were filed.

The requisitions and demands were approved as presented.

The requisitions and aemands were approved as presented.

The investigation of charges against members of the department was then started. The charges of Driver E. Jeffries of engine company No. 8 against Engineer J. W. Heany of the same company were scarced. The charges of Orliver all Schrifts of engine company No. 3 against Engineer J. W. Heany of the same company were first considered.

John Roeder, driver of the hose cart for that company, was the first witness. He stated there had been a number of instances where he believed there had been unnecessary delay in getting the engine out of the house in response to an alarm. In one case where there was a fire at Pico and Vernon streets, they were informed of it by a milkman. It was early in the morning, and Heany refused to go out till an alarm came in, which was fourteen minutes later.

At this point Heany explained that he did not go out at first because he thought it safer to wait for the alarm.

J. S. Sloan, a caliman of the same company, being called, stated there had neverbeen any trouble at that engine-house till Heany came there. There had been more or less drunkenness there. He remembered having seen men named Collins and Hennessy more or less intoxicated about the house. Witness had heard Heany use very vulgar and indecent language about the house, although he had never addressed such language to him (Sloan.) Some of this bad language was bad enough to be heard by ladies across the street.

John Roeder, being recalled stated that, about two weeks ago Heany became angry at him as a result of a dispute and threatened to do him bodily violence, and at the same time swore at him. Heany had also refused to ring the house bell to call him (Roeder) when he (Roeder) was at meals.

Assistant Chief McMahon stated that, was the state the angine house.

Assistant Chief McMahon stated that, when he visits the engine-house, Heany
will not recognize him.
Roeder was recalled. He stated that will not recognize him.

Roeder was recalled. He stated that he had been told by Heany not to help Jeffries "hitch up those colts," but to let Jeffries hitch them up himself. He (Roeder) had been laying off since last Wednesday in order to keep peace at the house. He had found the nut on the axle to his hose cart removed, by whom he did to his hose cart removed, by whom he did not know.

Jeffries being again called, stated that several times Heany would not help him about hitching up, and he had to call outside help. Heany had also lighted the fire in the engine before the colts were released, and caused a good deal of trouble, because the colts would not go through the smoke. Heany had also pushed the electric button which acts to release the horses from their stalls, and had done it at times when they should not have been released.

Heany explained why he had pushed the button by stating that he had found one of the horses loose He feared that, if he put it back himself, Jeffries would think he was trying to "job" him. He therefore rang the bell so as to call Jeffries.

Jerry Collins, a callman of engine com-

Jerry Collins, a callman of engine company No. 8, stated that, as far as he knew. Heany had always answered the assistant chief when spoken to by him. Heany stated, in his own behalf, that, with a coll-boiler engine, such as he has, it required all his time to attend to it, and he has no time to help the driver. At this point the board adjourned until afternoon.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The charges of Heany vs. Jeffries were taken up, and Heany and Jeffries were called in. The charges, as will be remembered, were in brief that he lost two minutes by being absent from the house when an alarm came in, that in one case he stopped the engine at a plug a long distance from a fire; that, on one occasion, he came downstairs in the engine-house in response to an alarm, not properly clothed, and that once, when hitching up, he neglected to snap a collar.

The Mayor rapidly read each of the charges, and, as he would finish reading one, he would ask Jeffries if the charge were true. Jeffries did not positively deny what was stated in them, but, in one or two instances, started to explain how it was that what was charged happened. Before he had a chance to make an explanation, the next of the charges would be read, and so on, until all of them except the further charge of his being filthy about the engine-house, which he positively denied, in part, saying he did not do some of the worst things specified in the charge.

There being no more witnesses to be heard, the Mayor stated that the case against Jeffries would be closed as far as the taking of testimony was concerned.

F. H. Farmer, a callman of engine company No. I, was then called in the case of Heany vs. McMahon. He stated he heard McMahon say, not many weeks ago, that it was too bad the way things were running, and that it would be a pity to have Chief Morlarty removed, but as fig is incompetent it would probably have to be done. Witness was shown a letter by Assistant Chief McMahon, by which letter McMahon claimed authority had been conferred upon him to enforce all rules of the department without first referring such matters to the Chief.

W. R. Price, in his testiment, stated that at one fire, to which he went, McMahon made some remark to him and he (Frice) afterward said to the min he was with that McMahon must be "loaded." On the night of the fire following the explosion at the building on Spring street, near Fifth, witness saw McMahon staggering across the street as if drunk.
Witness was shown a letter from the Mayor to Assistant Chief McMahon, written last July, when Mr. Curran was chief, instructing him (McMahon) to enforce each and every rule of the department, and was asked if that were the letter which McMahon exhibited to him several weeks ago. Witness said it did not appear to be the same.

Witness said it did not appear to be the same.

An affidavit of A. J. Springer was introduced. It stated that at a fire on the Briswelter tract McMahon was beastly drunk and gave his orders in a violent and profane manner. The affidavit also stated that at the fire in connection with the explosion McMahon was drunk, and had he (Springer) not held him up McMahon would have fallen into the ruins.

C. Samuelson of engine company No. 2 stated that McMahon called him aside one day in the City Hall and told him that he (McMahon) was going to be chief of the department and that if he (Samuelson) would tell him what was going on he would see that he had a good position when he (McMahon) got in power.

McMahon indignantly interrupted at this point, saying the statement made by the witness was a lie.

Jerry Collins, being called again, stated that at a fire announced by box No. 12 McMahon came in a hack and was "pretty well jagged up."

well jagged up.

William Stoermer stated that on the night of a fire north of Castelar street he heard McMahon shouting as he came driving on the street, which was something unusual for him to do.

Chief Moriarty being asked to testify stated that at the fire in question on the Briswalter tract McMahon, he found, had "a few drinks aboard." At the fire in connection with the Spring-street explosion he saw McMahon was considerably intoxicated. Witness consulted some of the general street with the series of the general street with the series of cated. Witness consulted some of the gen-tlemen connected with the department and

John Garvey, driver of the hook and ladder truck, testified that at one fire he saw McMahon somewhat under the influence of liquor.

During the taking of testimony against McMahon Heany said he saw McMahon at one fire with his hat and clothing in a filthy condition.

Adjourned till 7 o'clock in the evening.

EVENING SESSION The evening session was attended by all the members except Commissioner Kuhrts, who was taken sick while on the way to attend and was compelled to return home Oscar Aiken, the hack-driver who took Oscar Aiken, the hack-driver who took McMahon out to fire-alarm box No. 12 one night when there was a fire there, stated that McMahon at the time "had a heat on," but was not very drunk. Cross-examined by McMahon witness said McMahon stated to him at the time that that was the third fire he had been to that night. His clothes were wet. He (Alken) gave McMahon a receipt for the fare. McMahon told him that his buggy was broken.

Maurice Hill testified that on the night of the Spring-street explosion McMahon gave him some order, apparently believing gave him some order, apparently believing him to be one of the firemen. Judging from McMahon's appearance at that time witness thought him to be drunk.

McMahon being asked to produce his witnesses, he called in John Roeder, who testified that when McMahon came to the fire in a hack he (Roeder) did not think McMahon was drunk. Earlier that samenight witness saw McMahon refuse an offer of a drink of liquor. Heany made a proposition to witness to "stand by" some of the other men and testify that at that time McMahon was drunk.

A written statement was presented, as signed by J. F. Alexander, that when McMahon left the key of box No. 12 at his store McMahon was, to the best of his knowledge, not under the influence of liquor.

J. S. Hennessy testified he saw McMahon at the fire announced by box No. 1%, McMahon, he thought, was abber at the McMahon, he thought, was abber at the time.

W. S. Rowan testified that an the night of the fire near box No. 12 McMehon can be to where he was on horseback and spoke about how his harness was broken and also said something about getting a hack. McMahon was sober at that time.

Frank Liebe testified that in the case of a fire near San Fernando and Sotello streets he saw McMahon, who seemed to be sober. At the fire at the Spring-street explosion witness did not see that McMahon was intoxicated.

Charles Jenkins testified that at the explosion fire, as well as at other times when charged, McMahon was not drunk.

I. Lecount stated he had never seen McMahon drunk during the time he has been assistant chief of the fire department.

D. W. Brown said he saw McMahon at fire. W. H. Hoag gave evidence in regard to W. H. Hoag gave evidence in regard to the explosion fire on Spring street that he saw and heard McMabon caution the men handling hose to be careful about brukes glass so as to not cut the hose; also up to careful not to cut their hands with the glass so as to not cut the hose with the broken glass.

R. H. Rudolph testified that at the explosion fire McMahon, after the water had been turned off, had the men look in the ruins to see if there were any bodies there. McMahon was sober at the time. F. Labarre stated he was with McMahon for about ten or fifteen minutes at the explosion fire and McMahon was sober.

Heany asked the witness if he had ever seen McMahon intoxicated, to which the witness replied he had on the night of Hugh Smith's election.

This testimony was, however, ruled out, as not pertaining to any of the times specified in the charges presented.

Henry Scheerer said that at the time of the fire at which it is charged McMahon drove up in his shirt-sleeves shouting, McMahon did nothing of the kind, for he (Scheerer) rode with him. He heard Me-

AT THE COURTHOUSE.

The Case of Ritzman vs. Burnham Decided by Judge York—Court, Notes. Judge York rendered an opinion yester-day in the case of J. W. Ritzman vs. F. E. Burnham, in which he orders judgment for the defendant. Plaintiff sued for the value of certain

Judge York previously, on a demurrer to the complaint, held on the facts alleged in the complaint that the judgment was void. Those facts were substantially proven on the trial. In his answer defendant, and a mong other things, set up an appeal to the Superior Court from the judgment of the Justice Court, and a dismissal of that appeal by the former court on motion of this defendant—the plaintiff in that action; also a conversion of a certain horse and buggy belonging to this defandant by the plaintiff in this action for the value of which, in the Justice Court, judgment was rendered in favor of this defendant, the plaintiff in that action, against this plaintiff, she defendant in that action. The effect of the dismissal of the appeal presented a close question, and in discussing the points raised the court says:

"Counsel for defendant contends that the effect of such dismissal is an affirmance of the judgment of the Justice Court by this court, and makes the judgment of this court. Sec. $63, Code of Civil Procedure, provides that the dismissal of an appeal is in effect an affirmance of the judgment or order appealed from. The Justice Court judgment, though void, and subject to collateral attack was also appealable. If on an appeal by the defendant in that case this court had decided that the judgment appealed from was rendered by the justice within his jurisdiction and had affirmed the judgment, the judgment thereafter would not have been subject to collateral attack, notwithstanding the fact that the judgment of this court would have been erroneous—on the maxim that "the judgment of a court having jurisdiction of the cause and of the parties makes black white and white black."

"If the dismissal of the appeal was such affirmance, the effect was to make that judgment of a court having jurisdiction of the cause and of the parties makes black white and white black.

"If the dismissal of the speal was such affirmance, the effect was to make that judgment of affirmance on the merits would have been erroneous—on t said horse and buggy, belonging to this defendant. After the sale of this plaintin's property by the constable, under an execution issued on that judgment, this plainfeudant's horse and buggy, let them for hire, worked the horse with other horses and appears to have very materially lessened the value of this defendant's said and appears to have very materially lessened the value of this defendant's said property. Plaintiff himself testified that he considered said horse and buggy his from the time of said constable sale of his horses, and because of the fact that his own horses had been sold to pay the judgment of the Justice Court. Furthermore, at the sale the horses of this plaintiff sold by the constable were purchased by the father of this plaintiff, who leased them to this plaintiff and this plaintiff took the same as the property of his father and has hald and used the same as his father's property and not as his own. He thus admitted that the title to his horses passed by the sale, and claimed this defendant's horse and buggy, because the fulletto his own horses so passed. He took and used as his own this defendant's property, claiming it as his own by virtue of that saie, and still claims it as his own while maintaining this action, contending that, that sale was void. He retains the benefit he has obtained and admits the validity of his father's title to the horses sold on the theory that the sale is valid.

benefit he has obtained and admits the validity of his father's title to the horses sold, on the theory that the sale is valid, and asks this court to give him judgment for the value of the property sold on the theory that the sale was void.

"His assertion of ownership of this defendant's horse and buggy and use of it as his own, claiming ownership by reason of said sale of his own horses, was 'an affirmance that his title to the horses sold had passed to the purchaser by virtue of the constable sale, a fact which he has confirmed by leasing those horses from the purchaser. After having affirmed the sale by the constable by acts which are unequivocal in their meaning and made with a full knowledge of all the facts, and expecially without any conscionable attempt at recission of that ratification, he cannot now be heard to say that that sale was void. Judgment should, therefore, be entered for defendant, and it is so ordered."

WANTS $11,630.

J. H. Coleman filed a complaint yester day in a suit brought against J. Downey Harvey as administrator of the estate of J. G. Downey, deceased, for $11,630, which he claims is die him on money placed in the keeping of the deceased during his lifetime and for services rendered. The allegations are that, during the years of 1863 and 1864, the plaintiff turned over to Downey the sum of $5000 for safe-keeping; that thereafter, in November of 1864, $600 was paid to the plaintiff, but, that no further sum was ever turned over on account, although the deceased had promised to pay on demand, For a second cause of action the plaintiff alleges that, during the latter part of Downey's life, he perfogmed services for the deceased which were reasonably worth $7500. Both of these claims having been presented to the administrator and rejected by Mr. Harvey, the suit is brought to compel payment.

NEW YORK, June 6.—The volume of business on the Stock Exchange today was larger than yesterday, and transactions were widely distributed throughout the list. Sugar, however, received the largest share of speculative attention. At the opening there was considerable excitement in the Sugar crowd, and the trading was so furfous that the first report that came from the stock teker was that Sugar opened 10,000 from 108 to 107, the first price being 1½ per cent. above the close. The shorts, who were anxious to cover, were the main buyers in the morning. There were, however, numerous selling orders on the board from holders who saw a handsome profit, and desired to secure some, so, for awhile, the counter-movements being about equal in force, held the stock between the figures given. About noon the buying became less proneunced, and prices took a lower range, and, during the next hour, were between 104 and 197%. About 1:30 o'clock 105% was teitched, at which time brisk buying was encountered, causing a raily to 107%; but in the finish defilings a reaction of % per cent, was made, leaving a gain of % per cent, on the oday. Callboard Sales. . SAN FRANCISCO, June 6.—The local wheat market, after a long season of lethargy, became suddenly active today, responding to foreign and Chicago advances. Transactions were large. December wheat, which closed yesterday at 1.054, opened at 1.054, reached 1.059, and closed at 1.09. May wheat reached Bran—16.00 per ton.

Flour—Net cash prices for Family Extras. 3.062.40; superfine, 2.56@2.75 per bbl.
Wheat—Quite a stimulating feeling developed in the wheat market this morning, owing, in part, to encouraging advices from European centers. Business in the sample line was not particularly brisk, but in speculative circles there was much excitement, and a large volume of business was done in futures, at advanced rates. December wheat gained 6%c per cental from the closing figure of yesterday to the highest rate paid at the regular session this morning. Spot wheat, for shipping purposes, is quotable #1.85 per cental for No. 1 grade, and 88%@87% for a choice article. The milling range is given at 56%1.65 per cental.
Barley—Sales this morning of choice bright feed at 23% showed that the market is in much better shape, while dealers are hopeful that the improvement will be maintained. We quote: Feed, 87%@90 for fair to good, and 91%@92% per cental for choice; brewing, 97%@1.07% per-cental.
Oats—All signs of weakness disappeared this morning, though there was no increase in the demand, but the improvement in barley and other feed articles necessarily influenced the oat market, and holders were less inclined to make concessions. Milling, 1.20@1.30; good to choice, 1.15@1.25; poor to fair, 1.06%1.10; black, nominal; red, nominal; gray, 1.10%1.01; black, nominal; red, nominal; gray.

SOCIAL RECORD. IN SOCIAL SPHERES.

The marriage of Mise Nanette Gottschalk and J. Bond Francisco, which took place last evening at the residence of the bride's parents, corner of Georgia Bell and Seventeenth streets, was one of the most brilliant affairs of the season. Every detail had been carefully attended to and was conducted on an slaborate scale. It was a white wedding, the room where the cereminony was performed being decorated to predice this effect. The other rooms were in different colors.

Is the hallway the balustrade was twined with vy and white carnations. Lising the hall were finimerous varieties of potted plants, and on the piano lavender larkspur was banked. Over the door leading to the drawing-room were sprays of pepper follage and white marguerites, and the door at the end of the hall which led into the library, was arched with palm leaves. The ceremony was performed in the bay window of the drawing-room which was transformed into a bower of white flowers. In this alcove potted plants formed the background. Across the front of the bay window was a solid arch of vy and carnations. From the center of this in the place of the traditional marriage bell, a true lovers' knot, composed of carnations, assmine and ferns, was suspended. Stretched across the alcove were two ribbons of white satin and covered with real La Marque roses for the bride and groom to kneel upon. The mantel was banked with the seven Sister roses and ferns. A handsome basket of syringas was suspended from the center. There were tail vases containing Easter lifes on either side. The large pier glass was wreathed with the Seven Sister roses, and the visse was banked with these blossoms. Potted plants were used in profusion. Between the folding-doors communicating with the music-room, date palm leaves were arranged. This room was in pink. On the right-hand side was a latitue formed of elecately-colored carnations. Many vases of La France roses were displayed. A garland of these flowers was festooned across at larga mirror and the chandelier was also trimined with th was most elaborate, the effect being in yellow. Across one of the doorways was a half portiere of columbine and marguerites. A profusion of carnations covered the mantel and on either side were vases of columbine. Ropes of pepper foliage and marguerites were festooned across the bay window. The table was covered with an imported linen and sik cloth, profusely trimmed with drawn work. On the ends were Dresden candelabras covered with yellow shades. The center piece was a handsome vase filled with coemos. The chandelier was a mass of marigolds, and from it four streamers of yellow moirs handsome vase filled with cosmos. The chandelist was a mass of marigolds, and from it four streamers of yellow moire ribbon extended to the corners of the room.

On one end of the table was the bride's cake, and on the other that of the groom. Refreshments were served throughout the evening.

The wedding ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock by Rev. B. W. Tayler. It was witnessed by only the relatives and a few-intimate-friends. Miss Moll of St. Louis, one of the bridesmalds, in a gown of white silk with panniers and puffed sleeves of brocade and a bertha of lace, entered with L. Kurtzborn also of St. Louis and proceeded to the alcove, where Rev. Mr. Tayler was standing. He unfastened the white ribbons and handed a streamer to each of them. They then stepped back and formed, an alsie with the ribbons. The groom, attended by the best man, Otho Gottschalk, then entered and awaited the bride, The rest of the bridal party then marched from the music-room down the ribbon aisle. First came the bridesmalds and groomsmen as follows: Miss Olga Dorn and A. Francisco, Jr., Miss Klokke and Fred A. Clegg, Miss Knecht and Charles Fomberton, Miss Marie Carhart and Dana Burks. All the bridesmaids were gowns of white moire silk, with puffed sleeves and panniers of silk and berthas of lace. The maid of honor, Miss Beatrice Francisco, sister of the groom, came next. She wore white figured crepe and bortha of silver spangled lace. The bride, with her father, followed. She looked very beautiful and wore an elegant costume of ivory satin, with court train. The bodice was trimmed with a solid yoke of pearl passementerie ilned with a bertha of wide point applique lace. There were large puffed sleeves, and over the hands fell ruffles of the same lace. The skirt was also trimmed with pearl passementerie. A long tulle veil caught with a handsome diamond ornament, the gift of the groom, was fastened to her hair and reached to the end of her gown. She carried a bouquet of Easter liftes, thed with white satin ribbon, while the bridesmaids' bo

The party entered to the music of the park acres march from "Lohengrin," which was played by a string quartette, composed of the personal friends of the groom. They were Messrs. Harley E. Hamilton, Elmer Wachtel, E. Clark and B. Bierlich. During the ceremony Schumann's "Traumerl" was played softly.

A reception was held from 8:30 to 11 o'clock. Lowinsky's Orchestra was in attendance. Mrs. Gottschalk received in a handsome gown of black moire silk, on traine. It was trimmed with hand embroidery in the design of apple blossoms and oak leaves. She also wore handsome diamond ornaments. Mr. and Mrs. Francisco stoom in the bay window and received congratulations.

Mr. Gottschalk, the father of the bride, is a prominent autorney. He was Judge in St. Louis for several terms, and was afterward United States Consul at Stuttagert, Germany, under the Harrison administration. While there his daughter pursued the cultivation of her voice, which is a high soprano. The family returned to this city about a year 300. BAY WEATHER.
For some days past there has been marked depression in the atmosphere of San Francisco and its many-avenued environs. The ratinfall has been frequent, and so copious, at times, as to justify the apprehension of a deluge. When the sun has deigned to show his face it was with apprehension of a deluge. When the sun has deigned to show his face it was with a sinister grimace, emitting sickly, chilling glares. The winds are a wrathful wail.

The fair Sunset City is swathed in saturating vapors, bequeathing pestilential apathy to concessionaires. The turbaned Turks are moody and dejected. The sinuous dancers among the emeraled daughters of Mohammed are limp and listless upon their perfumed cushions; their silken tissues are crumpled and forn.

The shouting showman, who invites with leather lungs the strollers on the Midway to Pharaoh's daughter's bower has temporarily retired to recuperate from a distressing cold, while Pharaoh's lovely daughter sits disconsolate in her bower. At Boone's arena, it is reported, the lions, since May 20, have been fitfully fierce, refractory, sulky, sly, treacherous and altogether unmanageable. The vallant Commodore, who has heretofore sustained a record of unparalleled bravery, permitted himself to be manipulated, and succumbed, without resistance, to an inferior brute in pink tights, vapid countenance and peculiar muscular monstrosities, who appears to be a subject of special homage to a horde of silly women.

This, and more of unnumbered events and, perhaps, wearisome enumeration, is no phenomena, but in the line of explainable circumstance.

Would you know, O listening Los Angelenyos! the cause of this visible dis-

Would you know. O listening Los Angelenyos! the cause of this visible disturbance in the elements? You shall. The fair Sunset City, and its manyavenued enviorns, is polluted by the presence of an Azusa man. He is here, with his stubbly beard, his thin-fringed cranium, his bovine roar, his supine duplicity, his shameless effrontery, for he absolutely assumes a place among decent people!

people! What brought this sneaking genus of the crawling reptile away from his sa-loons, his stable, his swinish associates, his Indians? his Indians?

To see the products of the Citrus Belt under the gilded domes, the palm-shaded arches, the long promenades of the Hortcultural Building at the Midwinter Inter-arches, the long promenades of the Horticultural Building at the Midwinter International Exposition?

The so given out, but, ostensibly, the stubbly-bearded, antiquated scullion is seeking a reconciliation with the woman whose steps he has dogged during the past four years, under the pretense of an irradicable "grand passion"—the woman whose money he has stoled, whose literary productions he has appropriated to his own base use, whose reputation he has blasted by slander and lies, whose means of livelihood he has utterly destroyed. Not content, with depriving her of her income, he has excited suspicion, to her irreparable detriment, in the minds of those who are inclined to advance her interest, and still, with a spaniel's whine, a reptile's sneaking subtlety, he seeks, with retterations and avowals of the illicit relations with his partner of past years, but nevertheless the mother of his numerous offspring; with declarations of undying affection for a later unfortunate, to enslave the victim of his attention to his own damnable designs.

The presence of such an abortive mongrel of the human species, this concentrated sty of nastiness, naturally disturbs the sweet serenity of nature; and so it is that the sun's rays are chilled, the winds are complaining, the four-footed king of beasts is querulous, the rain is a cease-less requiem.

Hon. Amos G. Throop. Rev. Florence Kollock opened the service by referring in tender terms to Father Throop as the founder of the Universalist Church in Pasadena and Rev. E. L. Congood man's work and worth in this comgood man's work and worth in this community. Rev. Ada C. Bowles told of his helpful work in establishing the church in Pomona. Rev. Amanda Deyo spoke touchingly of her personal reminiscences of her acquaintance with Father Throop, his grand character and sweet humility. D. Gaylord, J. D. Yocum, Rev. L. &A Andrews and several others offered suitable remarks, all bearing testimony as to the noble character and exemplary life of the departed. After this service the communion service followed.

n service followed. At 12 o'clock luncheon was served in the Sunday-school room to more than one ish. The dining-room in the hands of Mrs. Hartwell presented a most attractive appearance and an abundant and appetizing luncheon was served. The tables were beautifully decorated with sweet peas arranged artistically, and contributed by Mrs. Rosenbaum. AFTERNOON SESSION.

The afternoon session opened with a business meeting at 1 o'clock. Rev. G. H. Deere of Riverside acted as chairman.

Rev. E. L. Conger as secretary.

The report of M. E. Wood, auditor of The report of M. E. Wood, auditor of Pasadena parish financial affairs, was submitted and approved. Mr. Taylor submitted the parish report for Riverside. Reports from Pomona, Santa Paula, San Diego, Pasadena, Oakland, Los Angeles and Santa Cruz were respectively submitted, each being replete with interest. showing good work done in the various parishes, especialey those of San Diego, Oakland and Santa Cruz.

Shortly after 2 o'clock the Woman's Missionary meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. H. B. Manford. Mrs. Manford acted as chairman, Miss E. C. Lentz as secretary. Prayer was offered by Rev. Amanda Deyo of San Diego. An address of welcome was offered by Mrs. Manford, and a business meeting followed.

After the reading of the secretary's report, and treasurer's report, reports were port, and treasurer's report, reports were received from the branches at Pomona, San Bernardino, San Diego, Oakland, Los Angeles and others. An annual report of the next read by the president, Mrs. H. B. Manford. This was a somewhat lengthy report of special interest only to members of the association.

A tribute to the memory of "Father"
Throop was next read by the secretary, which had been prepared by appointment by the president, Mrs. H. B. Manford.
This was followed by the president's address. Mrs. Manford spoke of the authority of the church for its missionary work and of woman's special adaptability for this work. She also referred to woman's wide-spread influence in the church and her growing importance in all the affairs of life, urging upon her hearers the necessity of planting the standard of truth and righteousness in every land and especially at eousness in every land and especially at the threshold of home. Mrs. Manford spoke earnestly of the necessity of aggressive work by the members of this aspairing as it made the leaks more discernable.

The cause of the leaks seemed to be slight imperfections in the milling of the edges of the wood staves used in the construction of the slphon pipe. The repairing is done in a manner which is rather unique. A wedge of wood is not driven directly into the leak as would be supposed, for it is found that, although it may stop the flow of leakage at that point, the wedge serves to separate the staves for a little distance in each of the two directions of the crack and may make the leak greater than before. The repair is made by driving a chisel into the wood stave a half-inch or so from the crack and in such a manner as to slightly split the wood in a direction parallel with it. Into the split thus made a thin wedge of wood is driven. Into a similar split on the other side of the crack another wedge of wood is driven and the two wedges thus serve to crowd the edges of the two staves close together at the crack and stop the leak without causing a leak at some other point. At the conclusion of this address a

At the conclusion of this address a rising vote of thanks was extended to the president of the association for her faithful services during the past year as an appreciation on the part of the association of her trying and arduous duties and energetic performance of the same.

The election of officers for the ensuing year followed with the following result: President, Mrs. H. B. Manford, Sierra Madre; vice-president, Mrs. Snyder, Pomona; secretary, Miss E. C. Lentz, Pasadena; treasurer, Miss E. C. Lentz, Pasadena; treasurer, Miss L. N. Shaw, Oakland.

The address on "Woman's Work," which was to have been given by Miss L. N. Shaw of Oakland, was not read, although prepared and sent for that purpose. Owing to the length of previous addresses and some delays this matter was crowded out much to the regret of all present, as it contained valuable and interesting suggestions.

More than $42 dollars was contributed.

More than $43 dollars was contributed, partly in membership fees, to the association during the afternoon meeting. The session closed with an address by Rev. Florence Kollock and the singing of the missionary hymn, "From Greenland's Icy Mountains."

The convention met again at 7:30 p.m., when two very interesting papers were read on the attitude of the church toward the community. Rev. Ada C. Bowles of Pomona discussed the relation of the church to the social and intellectual life of church to the social and intellectual life of the community. She opened her address by saying that the tendency to stratifica-tion in society is so strong, even in gov-ernments, that the essential unity of the race, artistic progress and the highest form of religion would be lost sight of but for some counteracting power which, like that which controls matter, has its own "persistence of force and conservation of energy, which means the indestructibil-ity of power."

of energy, which means the indestructibility of power."

If force had unrestricted play all the atoms in the universe would gravitate to a common center and ultimately form a perfect sphere in which no life could exist and no work be done. If energy had unresisted play all the atoms in the universe would be driven assunder and remain forever separated with like result of change-less, powerless views. The stratification of the units of the community with the Four Hundred in the upper stratum, called "society," and the four million in the lowest, called the slums, is a condition of social disorder which religion or the church is bound to change through power which is doubly armed with energy and force; energy which makes the most of each unit force of attraction, which holds each to service in the good of all. The attitude of the church toward social and intellectual life should be no doubtful one. The social and intellectual life of a community are linked in fellowship founded on common origin, common need and common destiny. Mrs. Bowles then gave forcible illustration how the upper and lower stratum in churches are brought together by mutual need of and aids to each other. Stratification is oftenest found in churches free from debt and in prosperous circumstances. The kingdom of heaven should be made open to all. If people were made of use in their church and felt they were doing active work, many outsiders would flock in. The establishment of sympathetic relations, which may come through the church, will be a partial solving of the labor question. Mrs. Bowles referred entertainingly to the work done in the Pomona parish, and their efforts and methods of interesting the strangers among them and members in the church. The liberal church, she says, is timid in accepting the "running-to-meet-strangers" policy, but is apt rather to wait with gloved hands to see if the stranger is coming its way. The church should be made the center of the best intellectual and social supplies. To search out the unnoticed who are able to contribute to this center, to seek the hungry soul, eager for some intellectual food, and to adapt the supply to the demand; to keep such a healthful stir among atoms as that each shall gravitate happily and helpfully, should be the work of the church. Vacant minds are reservoirs of satan. Keep them so full of good things that evil things cannot ever hang topon their edges. Mrs.

Conductor Odell Tells How the Train Was Ditched on the Night of the Second Robbery-What Fireman La Grange Saw and Heard.

The trial of the alleged Roscoe train robbers has commenced.

Department One of the Superior Cou held a crowd of people yesterday morning when the regular session was called, and all day long the mass of humanity craned their necks and strained their ears to gain a look at the Roscoe suspects, and to hear what was said in the course of the day's proceedings.

Walter Thorne, John Comstock and Patrick Fitzsimmons were all on exhibition before the court, jury and audience in answer to the charge prefrred against them, a conviction of which may result in the infliction of capital punishment. infliction of capital punishment. details of the daring "hold-ups which occurred at the little station of Roscoe are still fresh in the minds of the of life and but little treasure was carried off by the robbers, but the second was more disastrous. In the latter case the train was wrecked and a fireman and tramp were killed.
All things being considered, the detectives, after careful investigation, became convinced that the perpetrators of the outrages had taken a course in the direction rages had taken a course in the direction of the Tejunga region in making their escape from the scene of the crime.

Being suspicious that the robbers resided in the neighborhood mentioned, the officers event to work on the case with this circumstance as a clew. First Alva Johnson was accused, among others, of having committed the crime, but an examination developed no evidence sufficient to hold him.

m. Finally Detective Marsh picked up Max rinally Detective Marsh picked up max Shroeder as a suspect, and afterwards the present defendants were arrested. It was said that a number of circumstances which pointed toward the guilt of the men had pointed toward the guilt of the men had come to the knowledge of those who were following the trail, and upon an investigation the grand jury brought in indictments. Subsequently Shroeder was sent to the penitentiary to serve time for burglary, and the first case against the men was dismissed, the trial on the second charge coming on regularly yesterday.

The entire forenoon was taken up by the exemptation of the second that the properties of the second that the properties of the second the properties of the second that the properties of the second the examination of jurors and the process

At 12 o'clock the following jurors had been accepted and sworn: John Webber, Fremont Cobb, George A. Chapel, Stephen R. Ibbotson, W. M. Allison, D. C. Andrews, Charles J. Fallon, Philip Buck, Winchester Gillet and Peter Keefer.

John C. Dickson and Dallas D. Cate were then drawn, but their examination was not taken up until afternoon.

R. W. Pridham and R. F. Bain were then called and again the defense excused both of the men. J. H. Green and B. F. Van Tress next took their places in the box. This time the prosecution excused Mr. Van Tress and the defense Mr. Green. Frank Gurling and H. C. Thomas were finally chosen to complete the panel. Clerk Forrester then read the indictment to the jury and the case for the people was opened.

All witnesses were placed under the rule, and ordered to retire to the waiting-room until their names were called, and this closed the preliminaries.
"Call your witnesses, gentlemen," directed the court largest of these was less than three-fourths of an inch long and less than one-sixteenth of an inch in width. While examining them the pressure on the sewage in the pipe seemed to be suddenly increased and from the largest leak the water spurted upward for five or six feet. This increased pressure helped in the work of repairing as it made the leaks more discernable.

"Call your witnesses, gentlemen," directed the court.
G. H. Odell was first sworn.
"State your name and business," was the opening question asked by Mr. Conkling, to which the witness replied:
"I am a conductor. I was running on a train of the Southern Pacific on the night of February 15, between this city and Bakersfield. The train was known as the Pacific restield. of February 15, between this city and Bak-ersfield. The train was known as the Pacific Express. We, went that night as far as Roscoe. We were running at the usual rate of speed, and were brought to a standstill by having the train ditched at the station. As soon as the train stopped I got out on the ground and looked to-I got out on the ground and looked toward the engine. A cloud of dust was rising from the derailed engine and cars, and two men were coming down alongside the track. They were both armed and were cursing and swearing. When I saw them I started back into the train and as I put my foot on the step one of the men fired several shots into the ground. I went inside and told the passengers to keep quiet as I did not think that they would be injured if they obeyed. While I was in the smoking car a passenger raised the window and some one fired a shot and said, 'You — —, keep your head in.'

said, 'You ———, keep your head in.
I went through the train several times I went through the train several times with the idea of watching to see in which direction they went away. The men finally went off on the left-hand side of the train. There were seven men at the tirae. I saw them go away into the bushes. Two of the party were trainmen, who had been forced to go with the robbers when they left. The two trainmen came back in a few moments. It was moonlight, but the clouds were thick. After the men went away I walked up to the engine and found the fireman pinioned between the engine and tender. Under a cylinder there was an unknown man lying doubled up, dead. We tried to get the fireman out and just as we got him out he died. We then waited for some time until an engine came and pulled the train back to this city."

waited for some time until an engine came and pulled the train back to this city."

On cross-examination the conductor said that he had not noticed any spotted pacing dog about the train at the time of the robbery, neither had he observed that any of the men stuttered in their speech.

J. F. Brown, an engineer, had been a passenger on the train wrecked at Roscoe on the night of February 15: "I got off the platform when the train stopped," he said, "and saw a man coming down along the track. He fired a couple of shots and told us to get back into the train, and I went back. After the men had gone I went forward to the engine to assist in getting the fireman out of the wrock. The man I saw on the outside of the train at first had a light-colored coat on. I could not tell what kind of a hat he wore."

Mr. Brown's testimony was short and was furnished merely for the purpose of establishing the corpus delicti.

Benjamin La Grange, the extra fireman, who had ridden in the cab on the night in question, said that just, before going into the ditch at Roscoe the engineer had cried: "Look out, boys, or you will get shot." In a moment the train was ditched. "Two men came up and told me to hold up my hands," narrated the young man, "and compelled me to go with them. One of the men placed a bomb on the express car door and told me to set it off, and the other went down the train, shooting as he walked."

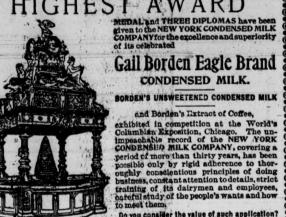

"Do you think that either of the men are here present in the courtroom?" asked Mr. Conkling.

An objection was made to the question, which was overruled by the court.

The witness then stated that Fitzsim-

Judge R. M. Widney also made a motion, duly supported and carried, that the Pasadena and South Pasadena committees be requested to hold, a meeting and consuit together as to ways and means of constructing said road, their report to be rendered at a meeting appointed to be held at the Chamber of Commerce rooms on Tuesday, the 12th inst., at 2 p.m. After further discussion as to the proper construction of the road the meeting adjourned.

mons and Thorne were similar in size to the robbers, as he remembered them. He said further that the men were masked, having handkerchiefs tied around their faces. He had seen but two men. After the robbers went into the express car they asked the messenger if he had any "C. O. D's." The smallest man was cursing all the time; he had said that "he would be — — if he would have held up the train if he had known that the enginer wasn't going to stop." "Then," continued the witness, "they threw out the sack which contained the money and told us to carry it. We went with them, carrying the sack, until we came in sight of a wagon, to which were hitched two horses. The whole thing was over in about twenty minutes. When we came back to the train we got tools and got the fireman out. The bomb used on the express-on door was in a small can. About a dozen shots were fired in all. The men were both armed. The tallest one had a shot-gun or a rife, and the smallest had a revolver. The tall man kept shooting all the time. While he was in the car he would walk first to one door and then to another and fire down the train. When the train went into the ditch the engineer jumped through the window, and I did not see him again until after the men had gone away. The tall man had blue eyes, for I noticed the color of them when the bomb went off."

Henry Foster, a brakemen, was put on the stand late in the afternoon and he had hardly begun to testify when a recess was taken until this morning at 10 p clock. The following were elected to membership in the chamber: W. G. Wedemeyer, W. F. Waterson, A. B. Chapman, San POMONA, June 5.— (Special Correspondence). The directors of the Board of Trade met at their rooms last night, and, while there were not as many present as could have been wished, an interesting discussion in an informal way was had upon the subject of furthering the interests of Pomona and this valley. As the matter of more extensive street-sprinkling had already been virtually settled by the action of the City Trustees, the discussion which was to have followed was omitted, and the more vital question of a sewerage system was discussed. It will, however, be more thoroughly discussed at the next regular monthly meeting. To this send a committee of three, consisting of Phil Stein, Fred J. Smith and J. B. Packard, was appointed. The flux, of the feasibility, and all the points bearing thereon, of a sewerage system, and to lead in the debate upon this important point of Pomona's future welfare. TAKE THEM OFF.

Complaint has been made at The Times branch office of the bands of sheep that are at the present time trespassing on the Trabuca reservation in the mountains east of this city. Residents in that vicinity claim that they are not allowed to permit any of their stock to wander over on the reservation, but that the owners of sheep in large bands are permitted to use the reservation as a sheep pasture. Some weeks ago United States Dist.-Atty. George J. Denis of this Southern Judicial District, located at Los Angeles, was notified of the presence of the large bands of sheep on the reservation, and he was requested to see that the sheep were removed, as they were not only trespassing, but were destroying hundreds of dollars worth of bee feed. As yet, the sheep continue to thrive on the reservation.

RTVERSIDE, June 6. — (Special Correspondence.) At the meeting of the County in the matter of the Box Springs road, over which there has been so much controversy.

The expent surveyors who had been to examine the road, supported in the main the plans and Apecifications as prepared by County Surveyor Pearson, one estimating the amount excavated as even less than the total given by Mr. Pearson. But it is in the 'chassistation where the difference exists, and this was not harmonized by the conference. A difference of one-half in the cost is made by the difference in the classiflestion as given by the surveyor, and that made, by the contractors and their experts.
The matter was taken under advisement by

Arizona is doing more in the way of railroad building and progress than any State in the Union, possibly than all of them. The most important line is the North and South road, which goes on, mile by mile, through some wild and rough country. Now comes word that the Globe and Bowle road has nine miles of track laid. A third new road will be built from the new North and South road to the Jerome copper camp. The road will be about thirty miles in length, running from Jerome copper camp. The road will be about thirty miles in length, running from Jerome to Clear Springs siding, two miles south of Del Rio station, on the Santa Fe, Fhoenix and Prescott Railway. The first four miles of the road out of Jerome will be rather heavy work, bence it is desired to commence work there just as soon as possible to get it completed early. It is expected to have the line completed and in operation before next winter. It will be a narrow-guage. Still another road will be built by the Copper Queen Mining Company of Bisbee from Fairbank to Bisbee, paralelling the New Mexico and Arizona road. This road will complete the copper company's line from the camp through to the Southern Pacific road. The length of the new roads are: The Santa Fe, Phoenix and Prescott, 200 miles; the Bowle and Globe, 160 miles; the Jerome road, thirty miles, and the Bisbee Company's road, 15 miles. Three big copper camps will get direct railroad communication by the roads—Jerome, Globe and Bisbee. New engines have recently been received by the Globe road, by the Arizona and Southern road and the Maricopa and Phoenix road.

It is the general opinion of the people of Harqua Hala that the two men found dead on the desert a short time ago and reported to have died of thirst, were really murdered by the two men who left really murdered by the two men who left the Congress mine with them. As soon as they found how public opinion stood at Harqua Hala they left and passed through Phoenix last Thursday. The bodies were found in their blankets, and all who know anything about it knows that when a person dies of thirst he first loses his reason and would not be able to roll him-self in a blanket and lie down calmly to die. to die.

RECOMMEND EFFECTIVE MEASURES. An Apache county paper in speaking of An Apache county paper in speaking of the depredations of a band of cattle-rust-lers from New Mexico recommends old-fashioned measures, as follows: "Honest men ought to combine to keep men on the range all the time, and when these fellows are caught at their work hang them to the first convenient tree and leave them dangling, as a warning to others. As a rule, we are opposed to lynch law, but this is about the only way to effectually stop such work. Two or three necktle parties of this description lynch law, but this is about the only way to effectually stop such work. Two or three necktie parties of this description and these fellows will hunt a new field of operation." The explanation is that a short time ago the gang took eighty head of stock they were compelled to abandon, followed by a similar experience very recently, when they left behind sixty-nine head. The fact of the matter is that there has not been a lynching in Arizona in has not been a lynching in Arizona in ten years, which probably hardly agrees with some outside ideas of the Territory. Restricting Suffrage.
(New York Evening Post:) With the tendency toward restricting the suffrage by an educational test goes a disposition to remove the present premium upon hasty voting by the aliens. The Louisiana Constitutional Commission recommends that a provision be adopted, requiring that a, man of foreign birth must be a citizen before he can yote—that is, must have fore he can vote—that is, must have re-sided in the country at least five years, instead of only a few months, as now: and public sentiment seems whelmingly favorable to its adoption. intention to become a citizen, but the last Legislature set in motion a proposition for an amendment. tion for an amendment, requiring full citizenship. Similar measures have been brought forward in the legislatures of other States, which have lax regulations on this subject, and the indications are that they will be accepted sooner or later.

The Coming Entertainment Discussed at Last Night's Meeting.

There was a good attendance at the regular meeting of the Press Club, held lest evening in the club-rooms in Music Hall building. Much interest was manied in the entertainment to be given in the near future by the members, and all present volunteered their hearty co-operaorary member, was not able to be present, but he sent up a box of Havanas which were enjoyed during the meeting by those were enjoyed during the meeting by those in attendance.

An informal discussion was first in dulged in, but after H. C. Wyatt came in suggestions were called for and it was then found that considerable progress had been made by the committee appointed to draw up a plan for the entertainment. I. H. Le Veen said that he had been at work on a farce which would be in the way of an extravaganza on the workings of a newspaper office, with the characters to be filled by persons from the three city dailles. This was to be an afterpart, however, for Mr. Wyatt's suggestion that a ministrel performance be made to fill the first part of the programme, was readily taken up and adopted. The outlines of the evening's entertainment was then roughly drawn out and the committee were instructed to prepare a more complete plan to present at the next regular meeting. Aside from the ideas offered by members of the press present, Messrs. W. J. Brodrick, Col. Hewitt, Mayor Rowan, Louis Vetter and others gave some pertinent points which were of value.

Before the meeting adjourned W. P. James, as president, read a communication from J. M. Crawley and J. A. Muir of the Southern Pacific Company, which stated that a special car had been set apart for the use of the Press Club on the train which goes down to Santa Monica Saturday evening to carry those who will altered the opening of the North Beach Bath-house and that the president of the club accept the invitation and go down to Santa idonica in a body, if possible. Each individual member will receive his invitation today.
